

HELP STARTS HERE.

NC211.org

2

Next you can either click on a category of services, or you have the option of entering a custom topic, or an agency name.

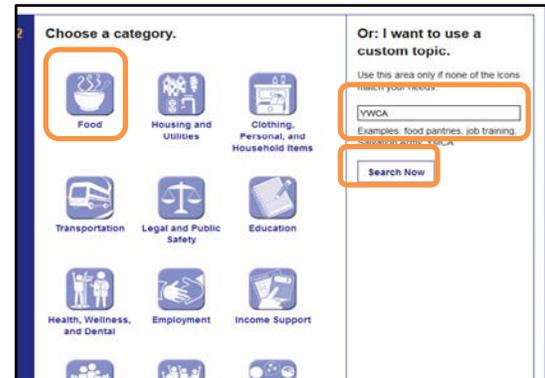

Click on the "Search Now" button to initiate your search.

1

Thank you for visiting NC211.org. This website allows users to find health and human service providers in their local community.

To begin, please click on "Find Help" in the top menu bar.

Then choose the location where you need to find services. On the right, you can choose to list all providers that serve that area, or only those that are physically located in that area.

3

If you chose one of the categories of service, then it will be necessary to make your search more specific.

4

Once you have the list of possible resources you will have the option to see all of them in a "Map View" or you can choose any individual agency to see more details about their services.

Once on the agency page you also have the ability to send the information by email or text, or even submit changes in information.

