Access to Permanent Housing (PH)

- PH Exits = a client/household was enrolled in a homeless dedicated project and left for a permanent destination (no longer receiving services)

The dashboard could be helpful to define potential strategies that the CoC could implement.

The data tells us several things:

- The system entered 446 new people in December. This has been trending downward over the last few months from a high in the fall of over a 1000 people in September.
- We currently have 602 households experiencing chronic homelessness with 40 new households becoming chronically homeless in December
 - 46 HHs exited the system in December with less than a third exiting to permanent housing
 - Move ins were far lower than exits to PH – does this indicate the difficulty finding PH units?

Where does the system need to put its efforts based on this data?

- Diversion efforts?
- Accelerate EHV's efforts to move on HHs from PSH?
- Prioritizing funding for landlord engagement?
- Others?

The Housing PLUS Bill

Bill's objective: Eliminate the Housing First requirement.

Drawing from the October 2020 Expanding the Toolbox report of Robert Marbut, past Executive Director of US Interagency Council on Homelessness (USICH).

(<https://www.usich.gov/news/usich-unveils-new-strategic-plan/>)

"We have people living in our ... best highways, our best streets, our best entrances to buildings ... where people in those buildings pay tremendous taxes, where they went to those locations because of the prestige, and all of a sudden they have tents."

--Robert Marbut

Bi-partisan, congressional response to Marbut appointment

- “As the Chairman and Ranking Members of the Senate and House Subcommittees responsible for allocating Federal funds to HUD’s homeless assistance program as well as the USICH, we have consistently worked on bipartisan basis to ensure communities and service providers receiving Federal funding follow evidence-based practices to alleviate and end homelessness. As you enter your role as Executive Director of USICH, we encourage you to continue the commitment to evidence-based, non-punitive strategies and practices.”
- “Housing First is an approach that has received bipartisan support over the past decade, and members from both sides of the aisle can attest to the reduction of homelessness in their communities through the application of this approach. The housing first strategy is especially effective for youth, young adults, and individuals experiencing chronic homelessness in accessing services provided through their local Continuums of Care(CoCs), and has been shown to result in improved medical behavioral health, reduced criminal justice involvement, lower rates of substance abuse, and better educational outcomes “

Despite the evidence . . .

Multiple studies over the years, starting with its early application and the 24-month follow up of Pathways participants, who spent almost no time experiencing homelessness, while participants in the city's residential treatment program spent about a quarter of their time experiencing homelessness on average. After five years, 88 percent of the program's tenants remained housed, compared to only 47 percent of the residents in the control group.

<https://nlihc.org/sites/default/files/Housing-First-Research.pdf>

The immediate response to Expanding the Toolbox report

“The document contains an extensive, inaccurate, and largely incomprehensible analysis of homelessness and the federal efforts to address it. . . The authors blame Housing First for the rise in unsheltered homelessness without citing any evidence to establish such a connection.”

(<https://endhomelessness.org/statement-in-response-to-usichs-expanding-the-toolbox-report/>)

Fact-checking the Housing PLUS bill's claims

November news conference with Congressman Andy Barr (KY), bill sponsor and . . . Robert Marbut

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=36N3Ga8Tga8>

Fact-checking the Housing PLUS bill's claims

In 5 years after 2014, when Housing First was adopted as exclusive approach, unsheltered homelessness increased more than 20% despite substantial federal resources dedicated to addressing it.

Homelessness in the U.S. actually decreased by 15% from 2007 to 2018.

Since 2010 . . .

- 50% reduction in veteran homelessness
- 16% reduction in chronic homelessness
- 29% decline in homelessness among families with children, including 72% decrease in unsheltered homelessness in this subpopulation

Fact-checking the Housing PLUS bill's claims

*Don't want programs that don't expect anything from people.
Housing First doesn't meet them where they are.*

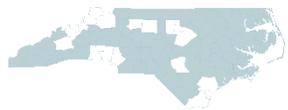

Sam Tsemberis, Founder and CEO of Pathways to Housing, was the originator of the Housing First model. Housing First grew out of working directly with people diagnosed with mental illness who were living on the streets of New York, where Sam learned that people needed services beyond hospitalization.

Fact-checking the Housing PLUS bill's claims

Housing First is not working bc/it doesn't address the root causes of homelessness, i.e., 80% of those homeless have mental/behavioral health/addiction issues. It's just a give-away voucher program with no requirements or treatment program.

- When individuals were provided access to stable, affordable housing, with services under their control, 79% remained stably housing at the end of 6 months, compared to 27% in the control group.
- Another long-term study found that participants in the Housing First model obtained housing earlier (and remained stably housed after 24 months) than participants in programs where housing and services were contingent on sobriety and progress in treatment.

Fact-checking the Housing PLUS bill's claims

The one-size-fits-all approach marginalizes faith-based providers with an emphasis on dignity, instilling a sense of self-worth, community support, recognition of potential AND a roof.

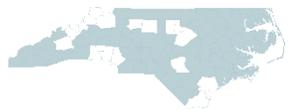

- Housing First provides access to services through localized CoC strategies (allowing that one size does not fit all).
- Housing First recognizes that stable housing is a prerequisite for effective psychiatric and substance abuse treatment and for improving quality of life. Once stably housed, individuals are better able to take advantage of wrap-around services – to help support housing stability, employment, and recovery.

Fact-checking the Housing PLUS bill's claims

Under Housing First, I was gifted with a subsidized apartment with no expectations that I would quit using drugs or do anything more with my life. In my experience and as an addiction counselor, very few people will CHOOSE to work on themselves but repeat the cycle. A house alone will not fix the homeless crisis.

- Participants reduced alcohol use and likelihood of intoxication, despite no requirement to abstain from or reduce drinking to remain housed.
- Studies show that Housing First reduces hospital visits, admissions, and duration of hospital stays among homeless individuals.
- Overall public system spending is reduced by nearly as much as is spent on housing.

Fact-checking the Housing PLUS bill's claims

Homelessness is not about having shelter but about underlying causes—like addiction, mental illness, etc.

“Homeless programs, including those funded by the federal government, are housing more people than ever. But they can’t keep up with the number of people who are becoming homeless because rents are rising faster than incomes.”

—Nan Roman, National Alliance to End Homelessness

Fact-checking the Housing PLUS bill's claims

Let's instead model the successes we have witnessed with homeless veterans.

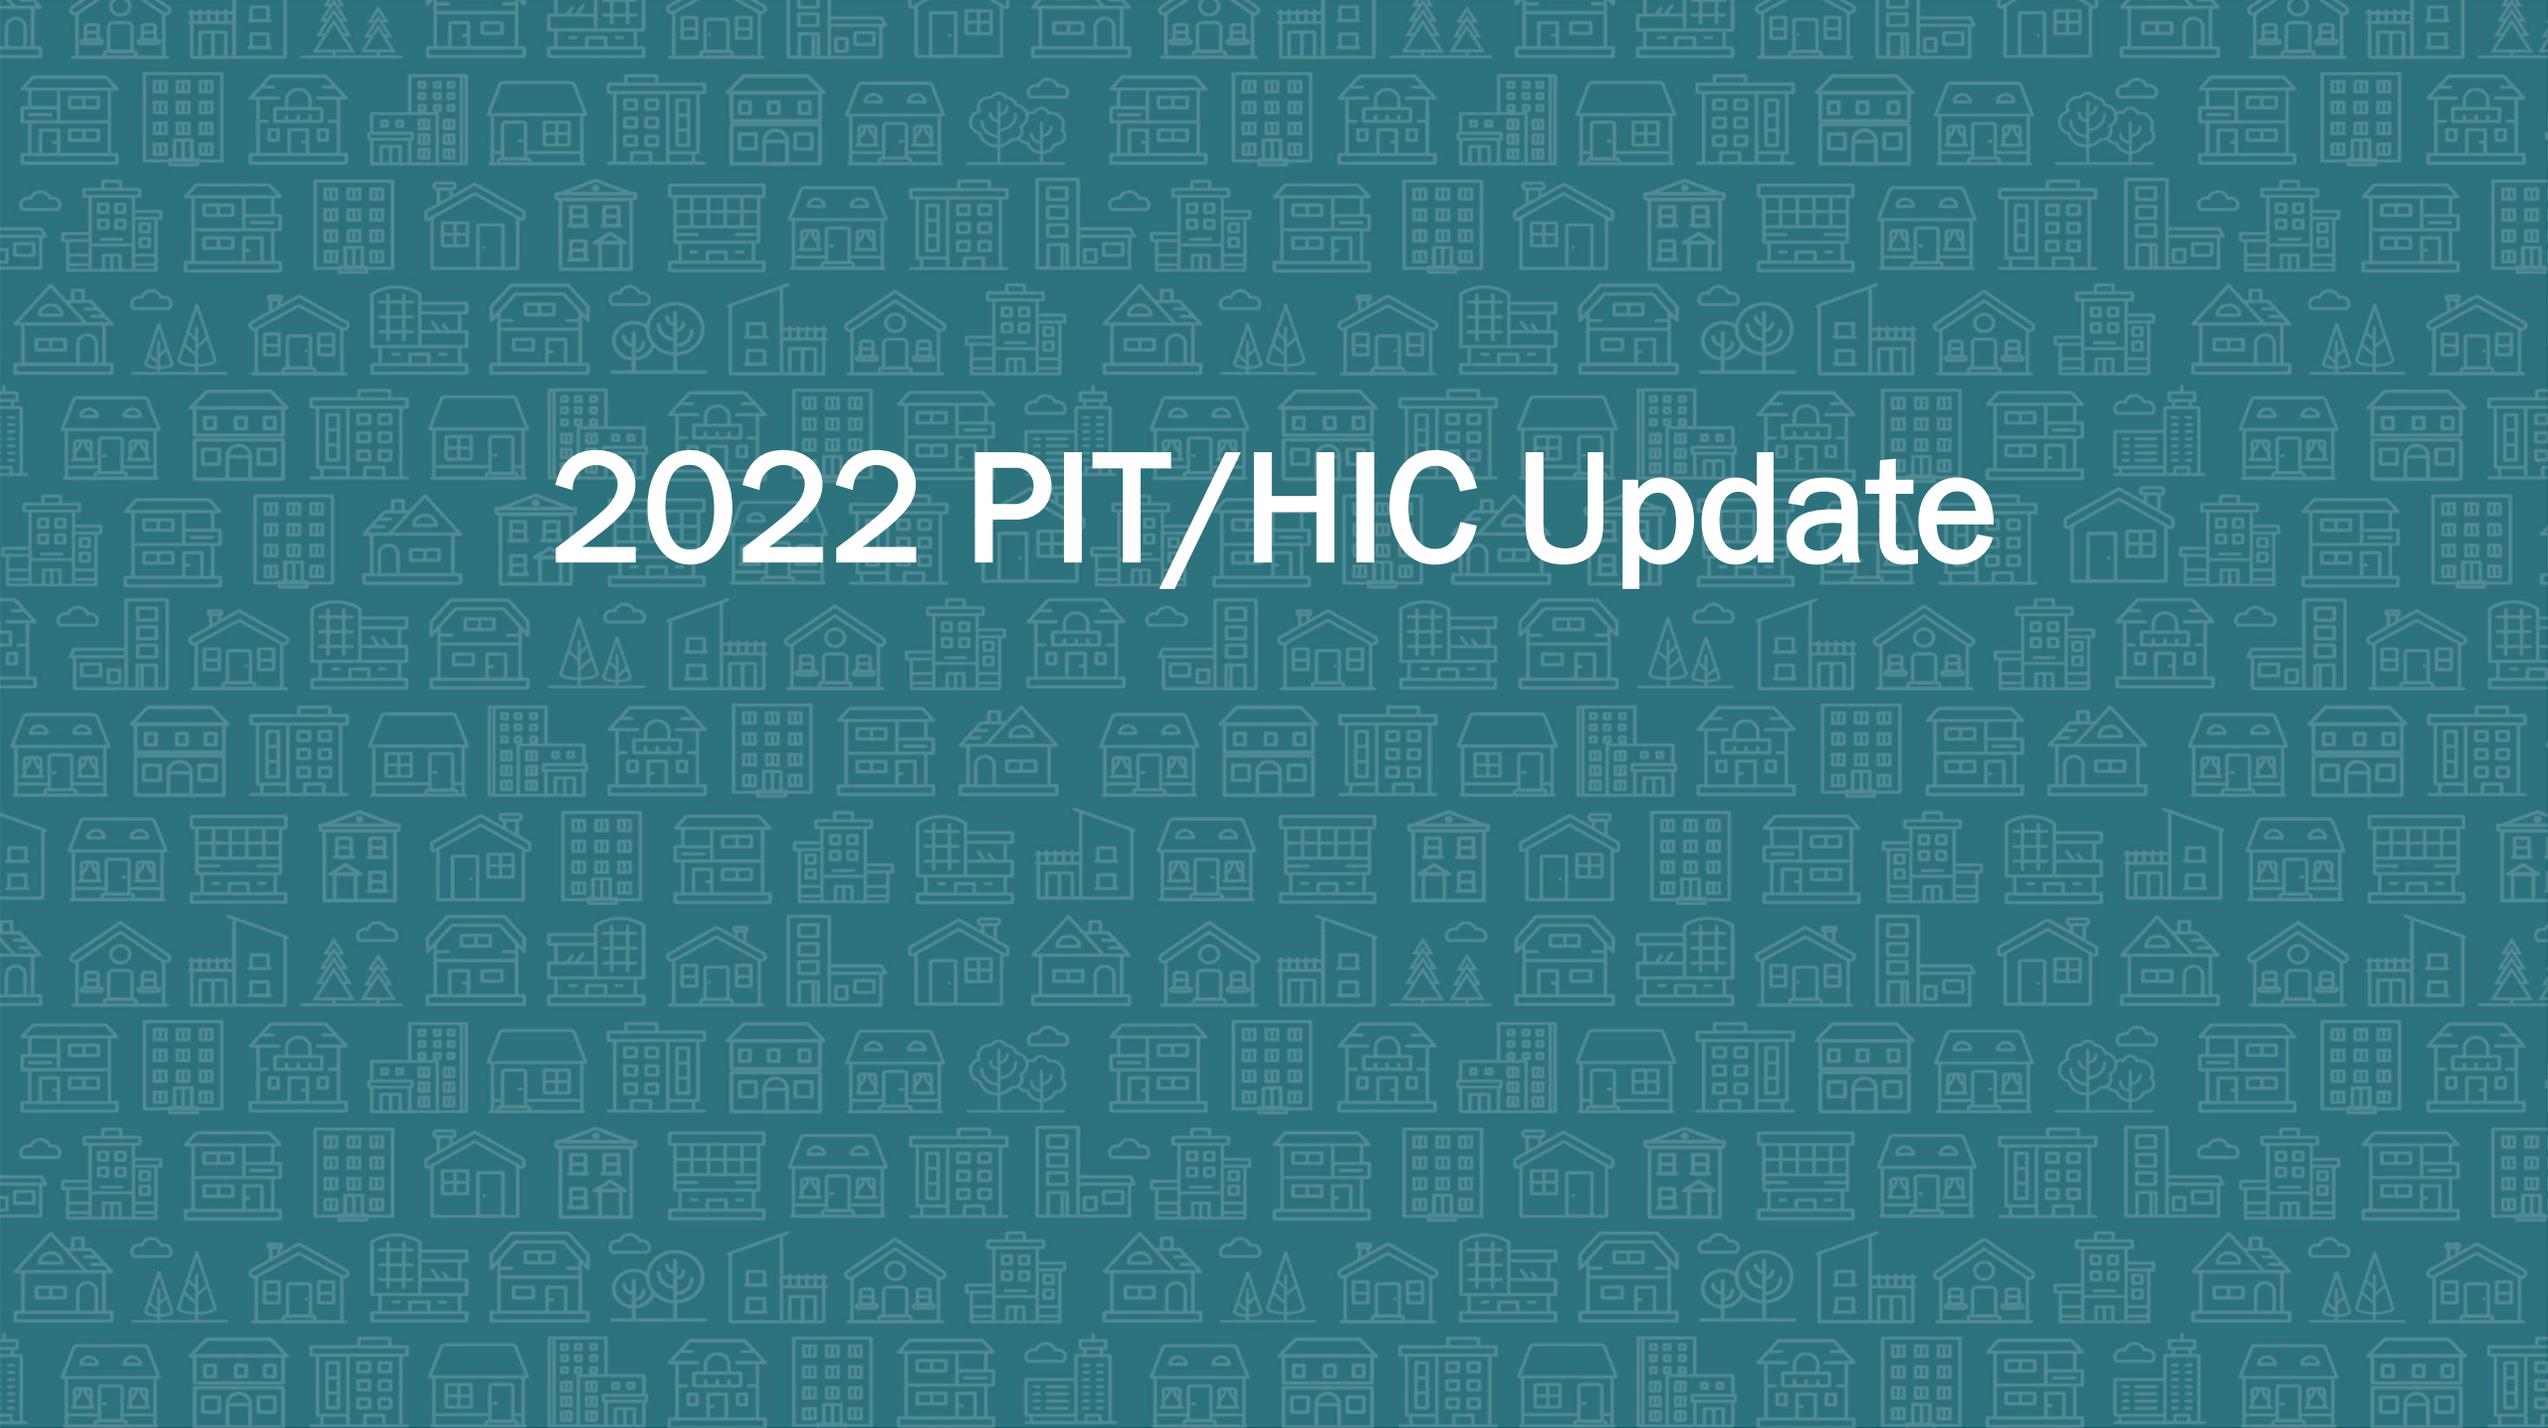

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) programs that reduced veteran homelessness—including unsheltered homelessness—by more than half specifically attribute this success to Housing First.

Fact-checking the claims of Housing PLUS proponents

“One woman said she couldn’t be around others who were addicted bc/she was in recovery and may relapse. Housing Plus protects clients from additional trauma by rejecting the low-barriers requirements in Housing First.”

The image features a repeating pattern of white line-art icons representing various types of buildings, houses, and trees on a solid blue background. The icons are arranged in a grid-like fashion, creating a textured, urban-themed backdrop. Centered over this pattern is the text "HUD CE Equity Initiative" in a large, white, sans-serif font. The text is the primary focus of the image, with the background pattern providing context and visual interest.
